Steel Industry, Union Cling to Positions

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steel industry and management negotiators clung firmly to their entrenched positions today despite President Eisenhower's urgent new plea that the nation's economy requires a prompt settlement.

Neither side showed any sign of budging. The industry said its proposals are fair and reasonable. And the union, with out offering any new terms, charged the employers were being obstinate.

Eisenhower, as part of his annual TV address to the nation on Thursday night before leaving on his goodwill mission abroad, said
the nation's economy and its defense posture before the world are suffering from the threat of a renewed strike.

"Day after day, throughout the economy," the President said,
"uncertainty, indecision and hesitation are growing as a result of this continuing controversy."

The dispute has been going on since May. A record 11-day strike ended a month ago under an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction that expires on Jan. 26. The union then will be free to strike again.

David J. McDonald, steelworkers union chief, proposed Thursday night that the President's steel inquiry board make settlement recommendations. He said he was sure it would result in a prompt contract agreement.

There were a couple of serious drawbacks to this idea. One is that such Taft-Hartley law inquiry boards are apparently barred from making settlement recommendations. The other is that the industry is unwilling to go along.

McDonald, asked about the legal basis for his suggestion, said he thought it could be done if the industry agreed to the procedure.

R. Conrad Cooper, U. S. Steel Corp. vice president and top industry negotiator, accused the union of dodging its responsibility and trying to have a settlement
"decreed by government action."

In Philadelphia, Dr. George W.
Taylor, chairman of the Eisenhower-appointed board, declined comment.

Eisenhower previously has sided with industry views that government boards should not certainly make labor dispute recommendations.

Survivors include his wife
four sons, Olin and Robert Purtell of Hope; Tom and Hugh Purtell of Shreveport; five daughters: Mrs. Perry Taylor of Dallas; Mrs. Monroe Summerhill of Carnegie, Okla.; Mrs. John Clark of Stephens; Mrs. Doyle Bruce of La Habra, Calif.; Mrs. Burton Taylor of Pomona, Calif.;
four sisters: Mrs. Ava Reyburn of Lockesburg; Mrs. John Penney of Dallas; Mrs. Alva Ritter of Camden; Mrs. William Pickens of Lockesburg.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at Garret Memorial Baptist Church by the Rev. Hobbs Purcell, Rev. A. D.
Livingston, Rev. D. O. Silvey
and the Rev. J. W. Story.

Burial by Herndon-Cornell
will be in Memory Gardens.

Mrs. Mildred E.
Price, 49, Dies
in California

Mrs. Mildred E. Price, aged 49, died yesterday at her home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Survivors include her husband,
John H. Price, a son, John H.
Price Jr., and a daughter, Roy McCracken of Los Angeles.

Services will be held at 10
a. m. Tuesday at Herndon Corn-Chapel. Burial will be in the Shilo Cemetery.

President Gets Big Welcome on Arrival in Rome

By STAN CARTER

ROME (AP) — Ancient Rome
gave President Eisenhower a fairy but warm welcome today
at the start of his 22,000-mile
"mission of peace and good will."

Even the Communists, taking a cue from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, joined in the welcome with banners saying: "Communists of Rome salute President Dwight Eisenhower."

A heavy overcast and the rain resulted in a 20-minute delay in landing.

The American President told guests at Rome's Ciampino Airport that his message for each of the 11 countries he visits is one of friendship and freedom, and he

Here's a New One About Civil Rights

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union
today announced a new book entitled "The Negro's Struggle for Freedom."

The ACLU challenged the Court of Appeals Thursday the protection order of Judge Michael J.
Gallo of Pittsburgh, Calif.

The ACLU petition declared
Lucy Martinez, 24, and Lucy Turrington, 21, were jailed Nov. 10 because they had "committed motherhood without leave of the Justice Court."

The Court of Appeals ordered the young women freed from jail on bail of $1,000 each. The ACLU posted $1,000 bond for each pending hearing of the appeal.

Miss Martinez, mother of six and expecting twins in a few weeks, was convicted last year of fraud in accepting aid payments for her children. Miss Turrington, whose fourth child was born last month, was convicted on a similar charge.

Judge Gallo granted probation on condition they bear no more children until they married.

Charge U. S. Puts Pressure on Europe

HAVANA (AP) — The chief of Cuba's Agrarian Reform Institute
Thursday charged the United States with putting pressure on European nations to release credits to Fidel Castro's revolutionary government.

Captain Antonio Nunez Jimenez
asserted that despite U. S. interference, he managed to obtain about 100 million dollars in credits for the Cuban government during a recent trip to Europe.

Nunez Jimenez reiterated a charge in a TV address that the United States was responsible for Prigian's refusal to sell a group of jet fighter planes to Cuba.

"Now we hope to acquire these planes in a Socialist (Communist) country so they can pressure us of being Communists," he said.

Declares Heavy Smokers Likely Cancer Victims

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A scientist today offered figures which the American Medical Assn. said
show lung cancer and conditions which lead to it "depend almost completely on the number of cigarettes smoked."

Dr. Oscar Auerbach of the East
Orange, N. J., Veterans Hospital
provided the figures after studying 19,797 slides of lung tissue.

In a paper prepared for the AMA meeting here, Dr. Auerbach declared: "These anatomical observations seem to us to indicate that cigarette smoking is today a major factor in the causation of lung cancer in man."

The tissue slides were obtained from 492 men who died of numerous causes in the East Orange VA Hospital and other hospitals, mostly in upstate New York.

Cause of death was concealed from the cancer researchers to prevent possible slanted conclusions.

Dr. Auerbach and his associates said smoking habits determined not only whether each individual had lung disease, but also the amount of cancerous, noncancerous and pre-cancerous damage to lung tissue.

Of the 492 deaths, lung cancer caused 13. All the cancer cases were smokers and 67 smoked cigarettes.

May Recover Monkey Sent 55 Miles Into Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today sent a monkey—named Sam—about 55 miles in a space capsule such as will be used for later attempts to put a man in space.

The capsule, released from its rocket, parachuted into the Atlantic Ocean about 200 miles offshore.

A Navy plane spotted it there and a destroyer was speeding to recover it.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the destroyer Hope probably would attempt the recovery about 1 p. m.
(EST), less than two hours after the launching.

The Little Joe rocket carrying the capsule was launched at Wallops Island, Va., at 11:15 a. m.

Reporting here on the experiment, NASA said that it went smoothly.

Bogus Money Order Brings Arrest of 6

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (AP) —
Six men officers said were wanted in connection with the passing of a bogus $100 money order in Arkansas were arrested as they drove through Murfreesboro today.

Sheriff Freeland Stenard and State Trooper Jack Mc Kinley made the arrest. They had been alerted by the police radio network to watch for a car in which the men were riding.

Stenard said the men offered no resistance. He said they had "quite a bit of cash and a bunch of money orders" in their possession.

The sheriff said the money order was passed at a store in Montgomery County, Ark., yesterday.

Stenard identified the six men as Donald Dawson, about 22, the driver, his brother, Bobby Dawson, about 25, and Robert Hall-mark, 19, all of Sheffield, Ala.;
and Fred Hall, 21, Bobby Van-dover, 13, and Alvin Wayne Campbell, 26, all of LeFlore, Ala.

The sheriff said the men were held on open charges in Pike County Jail. He said he had notified postal inspectors at Little Rock and Alabama authorities.

STORY OF A CHRISTIAN LIFE

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The autobiography of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, has a special interest for me beyond the sometimes thrilling and sometimes tragic details of Dr. Poling's Christian activity.

There is a suspenseful thrill in an auto accident in which he was nearly killed, and in which his wife and three children were injured.

There is tragedy in the death of his son, Clark, one of the four chaplains who gave up their lives to others, joined hands in prayer, and went down with the USS Dorchester in the North Atlantic.

As minister, editor, head of the World Christian Endeavor, chaplain, and world traveler, he has had an incredible number of varied activities and contacts. It is a veritable multitude of lives in one.

Beyond all this, the references to the Christian Herald have for me a special interest. It was founded by Louis Klopsch, in 1872. I can't recall when I first became acquainted with it.

I have often spoken of my father as a deeply religious man. As a country-town merchant one of his religious activities was to promote good reading among his customers. A special interest was in The Montreal Witness, a progressive and high-standard newspaper, published by a noted Congregationalist layman, but another special interest was in The Christian Herald, for which he acted as an unpaid unofficial agent.

I don't know how many names he added to its subscription list, but I know that as a youth I was a much-interested reader. I recall the various campaigns for the relief of famine and flood victims, but my special interest was always in the page, "The Bible and the Newspaper," linking Bible comment with current happenings.

Readers of this column may have noted my utilization of this idea from time to time. It has been particularly helpful during recent times when crucial events and situations concerning the whole world have been occurring in Bible lands.

A new Book of the Acts would be a good document, but unfortunately it would lack the glory of the New Testament Book of Acts, and I think it may be said that today there is no figure comparable in wisdom, action, and zeal for humanity to the Apostle Paul.

The world of religious journalism has undergone many changes since my boyhood contact with The Christian Herald, and I myself have had a small part in it, as editor of The Christian Congregationalist, and later and longer as editor of The Christian Herald.

President to Visit Pope on Sunday

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer
President Eisenhower visits Pope John XXIII Sunday in an atmosphere vastly different from that which prevailed when another American President met another pontiff 40 years ago.

There was an air of almost diplomatic intrigue about the meeting between President Woodrow Wilson and Pope Benedict XV—and a police incident that left Wilson livid with rage.
The time was Jan. 4, 1919. World War I had ended less than two months before and Wilson was en route to Paris with his 14 Points for peace.

It wasn't easy for a chief of state to visit the Pope in those days.
Diplomatic relations between Italy and the Vatican had been strained since 1870 when the Italians seized Rome from the Pope. To avoid a diplomatic furor, President Wilson had to depart for the Vatican from the American Embassy rather than Quirinal palace where he was staying.

The Pope and the President chatted for about 20 minutes. But just what they talked about has remained something of a mystery. Some 200,000 people thronged St. Peter's Square and cheered wildly as the President and the Pope sat together near an open window in view of the multitude.
The crowd was the reason for the unpleasant incident.

It has been made known that Wilson would speak to the people. But when it came time for him to leave the Pope, he found that Italian police had dispersed the crowd.

The police explained they were afraid the crowd would get out of hand. Neither of us are ashamed or think less of each other for it. But lately when I've been at church I ask the Lord forgiveness. Yet, at the same time I feel our relationship was pure and clean. We are to be married, but please don't think I'm a misbegotten adolescent and please don't tell me I don't know what I want. Don't tell me he understood and would respect my wishes.

We have both decided not to hand Mrs. Wilson, in her memoirs written 26 years later, had a different explanation.
"It seemed that the government," she wrote, "seeing the outpouring of the people feared that if the President addressed them, he would say something which would elicit their support for his 14 Points."

"Though Italy had agreed to the 14 Points as the basis of the Armistice, she had no intention of standing by her word in the peace conference."

The dispersal of the crowd, she wrote, "was a gross discourtesy, and when I got back to the Quirinal he (Wilson) was already there and fairly blazing with anger."

Mrs. L. J. Hampton Hostess To The Victory HD Club
The Victory Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. L. J. Hampton on Dec. 2 with Mrs. Cecil Smith and Mrs. Orville Hoelscher as hostesses. A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Cecil Smith.

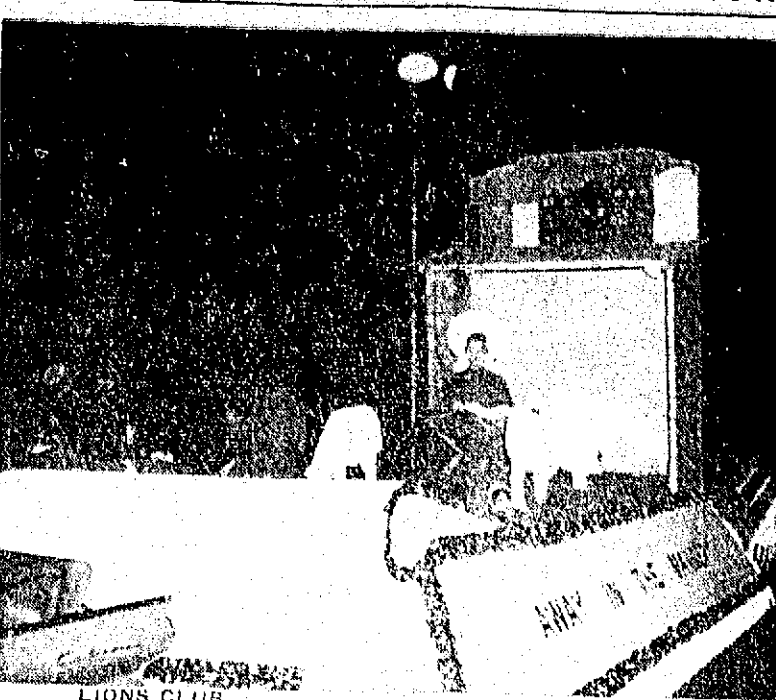

The club sang Christmas carols led by Mrs. Jack Sumpter, accompanied by Mrs. Hoelscher at the piano. The Meaning of Christmas to us was the devotion, brought by Mrs. William Schooley based on Luke 2:11-20. She followed it with prayer.

Mrs. James Hoyt Burke told the Christmas story. "The Other Wise Man." The living room of the Hampton home was festive with Yuletide decorations that included a Christmas tree.

Attending the party were 14 members and two guests, Mrs. James Hoyt Burke and Mrs. Jo Ann Phillips, Hempstead County MD Agent. The group exchanged gifts and revealed Secret Pals of the past year.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a table overlaid with a white lace cloth. Mrs. Hoelscher presided at the punch bowl. The January meeting will be announced later.

Coming and Going
Mrs. Mattie Tomlin has returned from Houston where she spent the past month with her children.

DOROTHY DIX

The Question Is: To Love or Not, Before Marriage

Dear Dorothy Dix:
John and I have known each other almost a year and have been going steady for past seven months. We were hoping to get married this coming spring, but as financial difficulties have set us back tremendously, we feel we couldn't afford to wed until the fall of 1961 or perhaps as far as the spring of 1962. Both our families believe we are old enough and ready for marriage. John is 21 and I am almost 19.

We foolishly have been letting our hearts, not our heads, guide us. Neither of us are ashamed or think less of each other for it. But lately when I've been at church I ask the Lord forgiveness. Yet, at the same time I feel our relationship was pure and clean. We are to be married, but please don't think I'm a misbegotten adolescent and please don't tell me I don't know what I want. Don't tell me he understood and would respect my wishes.

We have both decided not to make love again until we marry. It's easier said than done. John asked me about petting. Was that taboo? Do you think intimacy between an unwed-to-be-wed couple is sinful? And do you put petting in the same category? -- "Wondering"

Dear "Wondering": Shakespeare said, "There is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so." He also said, "Above all, to thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day."

These wise precepts hold good in your case. It is not what others think but what you think that matters. If you are true to yourself, you are true to the dictates of your conscience.

The important thing is that you and your fiance be sincerely and deeply in love. Morals are largely a matter of geography. What is wrong in one country, is right in another. The virtue which the world values above all else, is sincerity. But no matter how sincere you have a long engagement simply won't work. To postpone your wedding till 1961 is tempting fate. Financial difficulties as a reason for delay is so much pish-tosh. Marry John now and be happy, as I'm sure in your case, you both will.

I am a girl of 17 and need help. I expect a baby in January and although my stomachache and fainting will pay the expenses and agreed to let me keep it, they don't want me in the same house.

Where could I go find a job to live in, doing baby sitting, house work or whatever, in return for a home for baby and myself? The father wants me to give up our baby. There never will be any one for me but this guy. He is 18. We have gone together almost two years. Now he goes with someone else. It really hurts to see him on an average of twice a week and talk to him every day on the phone.

I wish we could get married. He says he never will marry any one. I know he likes me and feels real bad about what has happened.

Nothing is going to be done to him. If so they will have to put me away to. Is my thinking wrong or is it just love for I and for our child to come in January? -- Crazy-in-love-with-Joe

Dear Crazy-in-love-with-Joe: To answer your second question first: Joe is either a weakling or a snail. In any event he should marry you at once, even though you separate later. You are bearing his child. He must give it a name legally. You two owe that much to the baby. It didn't ask to be born.

Go to the church or your faith and ask the minister for aid, or you might find an understanding doctor. Don't give up if you are rebuffed. Underneath its crusty surface the world is kind, especially where a young girl and a baby are involved.

Much as you may wish to work, I doubt if you can take on any sizeable job till after the baby is born. January is only one month away.

Believe me, I care what happens to you. Let me know, I'm sending a list of social agencies in your city by separate post.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
My husband and I have been married three years and just can't have children though we both love them. Now we are trying to adopt a child. Have you any ideas about how we should go about it? -- Mrs. V.

Osceola Man Found Dead in Woods
OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP)—Max Weiner, 57, owner of auto parts stores in Osceola and Marked Tree, was found dead, apparently of a heart attack in woods near Weiner yesterday.

He had been hunting with other Osceola businessmen at a duck hunting club near Weiner. Hart separated from the group and when he failed to return a search was begun.

Survivors include his wife and one son.

Man Acquitted of Cotton Loan Charge
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—R. S. Rainwater of Walnut Ridge and the Citizens National Bank of Walnut Ridge were acquitted yesterday on a directed verdict of charges in connection with the bank's obtaining government cotton loans. Federal Judge Gordon E. Young ordered the verdict after the government rested its case. Rainwater had been charged with obtaining the loans illegally and the bank was accused of authorizing the loans.

FBI Investigating Negro's Charge
LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—At request of the Justice Department, the FBI is investigating a Negro editor's charge that a policeman beat him up and threw him out of the West Memphis police station.

J. J. Casper, special agent in charge of the Little Rock FBI office, said the preliminary investigation was to determine if any violation of civil rights was involved.

Luttrell F. Palmer, 37, editor of the Tri-State Defender at Memphis, said the incident occurred when he tried to post $250 bond for one of his employees who had been in a traffic accident. Desk Sgt. Komut Tullies has been suspended pending an official probe. Palmer said he had no currency on the desk when the officer told him to "stack them up." He said he replied that they already were stacked and the officer then struck him and threw him out.

Hope Faces a Veteran Team in Nashville

Hope and Nashville open the basketball season tonight at 7 o'clock in Jones Field House with the Junior and Senior teams playing.

The visitors will have five returning starters including Bryant, Arington, Hill, Young and Harper. Backing them up will be four squad men. So the Scrappers will be able to field a veteran team tonight.

Coach Don Sevier has six returning lettermen not all of them starters. This season Coach Sevier plans to try a two platoon system and it should get a good test tonight against Nashville.

The Bobcats will take no waste time as they take on two teams from Lewisville in Jones House Saturday night.

Criticism of Duck Calling Is Rapped

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—A Louisiana duck caller has no right to razz the World Duck Calling Championships, an official of the contest maintains.

Raleigh Newman of Lake Charles, La., stirred up the dander of Arkansians when he announced Tuesday he would not enter the contest here because he thinks Arkansas-type duck calling is inferior to the type he practiced in Louisiana.

A check of the records shows Newman is not a reigning regional or state duck calling champion, and without one of these titles he cannot enter the contest, said Leavelle Smith Jr., contest chairman. "Therefore, he has no basis for his remarks," he said.

Newman won an international duck calling contest at Crawley, La., in 1957.

The World's Championship is to be held tomorrow, climaxing a week-long celebration in this "Duck capital of the World."

Tonight's festivities include the Queen Mallard Ball, presided over by Carolyn Findley, 17, of Stuttgart, new Queen Mallard IV.

It is estimated that almost half of all American drivers got their motor vehicle licenses before official tests of vision were required.

Nearly two thirds of Mexico's 32 million people are without electricity.

Sophs Likely to Play Part in Cage Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the very early season games can be taken as an indication, the 1959-60 college basketball season may be known as the year of the sensational sophomores. It is hardly necessary to add that the seniors who are sensational also are super-sized.

The major colleges have been playing only three nights so far and already a dozen and a half, maybe more, sophomores have turned in performances far above those normally expected of rookies.

Top men Thursday night were 6-6 Chester Walker of Bradley and, for a second time, 6-8 Jerry Lucas of Ohio State but sophs Jim Hachot of Providence, Norm Halberstadt of VMI, Eddie Test and John Martin of Tennessee and Jerry Russell of Davidson, among others, were singled out for special praise.

Walker made his varsity debut for Bradley a memorable one by breaking two college records in a 110-68 victory over Abilene Christian. Playing only 25 minutes he racked up 13 field goals and 44 points.

Ohio State keyed its attack to Lucas, who had scored 16 points in his debut and this time he tossed in 34 as the Buckeyes routed Memphis State 94-55.

Halberstadt scored 23 points and kept the VMI Keydets in the game until the last few seconds before they yielded to William and Mary 79-73. Hachot made only nine points in an 81-39 decision over Springfield but he hauled down 16 rebounds. Davidson's Russell (a mere six footers) with 12 points but between them Test and Martin accounted for 28 of the Vols' breezy 102-68 victory.

The start of the 26th season of college doubleheaders at New York's Madison Square Garden and the seasonal debuts of some of the top Big Ten contenders drew attention Thursday night.

St. Louis, a Missouri Valley conference contender beat St. John's, 1959 National Invitation Tournament winner 76-67 after NYU had edged out Marquette 70-69.

Michigan State, defending Big Ten champion, beat Bowling Green 96-67. Illinois downed Butler 63-53. But Minnesota took a 72-60 drubbing from visiting Southern Methodist.

Notre Dame defeated Western Illinois 75-59 in its opener and Wichita limmed Hardin-Simmons 90-57.

THE STORY: Davey Cleaves, neglected by his parents on moving day, has slipped outside and into the moving van where he has fallen asleep amid the furniture. His parents, Bill and Carol, have not yet missed him.

Chapter 5

Carol faced Mrs. Primus blankly. Then her expression cleared. "Oh, of course. I sent him downstairs. I guess he waited down there to go with Bill to get the car."

A look of guilty embarrassment crossed Mrs. Primus' face. "Well, I took another job for today—across town—a lady who's giving a dinner party tonight. Since you were leaving I didn't think you'd mind."

"Of course I don't mind. Why should I? Can't you wait, though?"

Mrs. Primus opened her purse, fumbled inside and finally brought forth the old tarnished watch that had once belonged to her deceased husband. She consulted it with increased distress.

"I'm going to be late already. 'Oh, what a shame! But you run along. I'll explain to Davey. And we'll come see you soon.' 'Goodbye,' Mrs. Primus said. She left, closing the door as she had through all the seven years of her service here, so carefully and quietly that it hardly made a sound at all.

Left in the stillness, Carol simply stood for a moment, feeling a little lost, aware of a mounting sense of melancholy. Mrs. Primus' going had seemed to mark with absolute finality the end of her life here, the end of all the security and happiness she had enjoyed so abundantly within these walls.

Carol paused, and slowly, now that the end had actually been achieved, it began to dawn on her that perhaps the thing she was feeling now was the same thing that had been making Davey so morose and difficult these last few weeks. After all, Davey had spent all the six years of his life here, for him it would be so much worse.

Carol stood aghast before her lack of insight into the mind and feelings of her own son. How could she have been so busy and preoccupied not to have realized? Poor Davey! He had been left out entirely.

On the spot, Carol came to a decision: she would go through all the things left in the bedroom closets, take out everything of Davey's that he could lift and carry down to the car, and make a little separate pile of these items for which he would be solely responsible. Turning quickly, she started toward the inner hallway. But then she stopped.

At the sound of her own brisk footsteps in the silent, empty apartment she had been as ailed again by a strange uneasiness. There was still something wrong, she felt, something that had been forgotten or overlooked. Recognizing the stirrings of her own woman's intuition, she tried to think what it was. Crossing to the arched windows, she placed one foot and leaned forward to look down into the street.

Craning forward, she pressed looking—looking for what? The far face close to the window, scene below was no more than she had expected: the gray street, the gray day, the moving van at the curb, its doors open a ramp trailing down from the rear.

As she studied this scene there was a movement on the steps, and she saw the movers carrying one of the basement trunks down to the sidewalk. She watched their progress across the sidewalk and up the ramp into the van. Still she did not leave the window. She was there when the driver had reappeared on the ramp and paused to stretch his back.

Carol leaned closer to the window, anxious to take advantage of this chance to observe the man when he was not conscious of being observed, wondering what he was about him that had so angered her out in the kitchen. And then before she could do anything to prevent it, it happened.

Vigorously arching his back, he looked up in her direction. The man's gaze, almost as though he had known of her presence there in the window all along, had come directly to her face. Briefly, even at that distance, their eyes met, and then the man grinned, the same knowing, insinuating grin he had shown her in the kitchen.

She stood for a moment in confusion, her cheeks burning furiously. But then she willed herself to be calm. What possible difference could it make if he had seen her watching him? And what did she care what he thought?

As she started away, however, her gaze moved again to the window, this time reaching out in a new direction. Again she stopped. It was the sight of the man seated on the bench just inside the entrance to the park that took her attention this time. No, this there was anything especially remarkable about this particular man.

He could be seen at a glance. He was elderly, she judged, poorly dressed, actually hunched in this cold weather. She wondered, though, what his presence there on the bench reminded her of. Something trembled faintly on the brink of recall, but then, just at the moment when it seemed it would surely come to her, it faded away again and was lost.

What was the matter with her? All of a sudden everything, everything she saw seemed to have some special and slightly sinister significance. Turning swiftly, she hurried off toward Davey's bedroom.

Mooty Always Wanted to Make Team

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

Jim Mooty, the University of Arkansas' golden boy who almost has run his way right into a first string spot on the Associated Press 1959 All-American football team.

He's surprised, and happy. "I've always wished I could make All-America," the blond, El Dorado speedster said when notified of his selection yesterday by Coach Frank Broyles. "But I never thought I would get a break like this. I'm the most surprised person in the world."

Mooty missed two games this season and "didn't think I had a chance" at All-America honors. But in the action he did see, he finished out 519 yards rushing on 61 carries. In the Texas A&M game, Mooty scored both touchdowns in the Hogs' 12-7 victory.

Needless to say, that's the game he regards as his best of the year. The swift halfback also gave credit to his teammates, "the fine bunch of fellows I was playing with."

Four Porkers were named to the AP's honorable mention list in the All-American ratings. They are center Wayne Harris, tackle Marlin Epp, end Billy Tramm and sophomore halfback Lance Alworth.

Mooty made All-Southwest Conference in 1958 and repeated this year. He paced the Hogs to an 8-2 record for 1959, a share of the Southwest Conference title and a Gator Bowl bid.

The Mooty gridiron saga apparently almost was finished last spring when it was disclosed that ball because of aggravation to an old head injury. Mooty had hand-aches. So he skipped spring training but after another physical examination this fall the doctors told him to go ahead and play.

The first Razorback All-American since Bud Brooks in '54, Mooty is an old hand at making the select squads. At El Dorado High School he was All State, All Southern and All-America prepster.

Mooty said he has accepted a bid to play in the Senior Bowl all star game at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 3, after the Gator Bowl. Then he plans to enter professional football, either with the New York team in the new American Football League, or Calgary, of the Canadian Football Union.

Arkansas' Jim Mooty on AP All-American

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Cannon, Louisiana State's explosive halfback, is a repeater and unlikely Syracuse is the only team with two representatives on The Associated Press 1959 All-American football team.

The team representing every section of the country, is announced today after thorough sifting of the recommendations of 12 regional boards of newsmen.

Cannon, winner of the Heisman Trophy and top pick of the pros, heads a backfield unit which includes his Sugar Bowl opponent, Charley Flowers of Mississippi; versatile Jim Mooty of Arkansas; and Bob Schlorf, the one-eyed quarterback who guided Washington into the Rose Bowl.

Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team, provided a pair of the huskies for the 1½ ton line—Fred Mauldin, 191-pound, passing end, and Roger Davis, 223-pound guard whose alert linebacking featured the Orangemen's rugged defense.

Opposite Mauldin at end is Marlin McKee, one of the ferocious twins from Southern California, and the other guard is Bill Burrell of Illinois, a former fullback. The tackles are Don Floyd of Texas Christian and Dan Langphar of Wisconsin. The center is Georgia Tech's Maxie Baughman.

Cannon, 23 and father of three, has been the chief offensive weapon of an LSU team which has lost only one game in two years. Shotputter, weightlifter and a 9.5 second sprinter, he was the team's "climax" man—always coming through in the big moments.

A highlight was his 89-yard punt return in the final minutes for the touchdown which pulled out a 7-3 victory over Mississippi. He gained 588 yards rushing and returned punts, kickoffs and intercepted passes for an additional 527 yards. He averaged 40.3 yards on his punts.

Schlorf, who lost sight of his left eye in a childhood accident, is another all-around performer, equally effective on offense and defense. Acclaimed the best pass defender in the Far West, he also passed for 733 yards and five touchdowns, ran for 225 yards and scored 54 points.

Speed and deception are the trademarks of Flowers, a pre-law student whose shifty, statuer style of running enabled him to rack 713 yards on the ground. He also distinguished himself as pass catcher, blocker, line backer and quick-kick specialist.

Mooty, who once thought he might have to forego football because of recurring dizzy spells, instead left the dizziness to his opponents. He carried the ball 83 times for 519 yards, returned kicks for 171, scored five times and also starred as passer and receiver.

are allowed freely." Eisenhower expressed pleasure in landing "in this great city which was for so long the very center of all Western civilization."

He said he was glad to come to Italy, too, because of the "ties of blood which unite our two countries." He noted that millions of Americans sprang from Italian origins, "so our friendship is not merely official, but comes from the people, from relatives clasping hands across the sea."

The President said he looked forward with eagerness to his talks here with President Giovanni Gronchi, Premier Antonio Segni and other Italian leaders concerning his search for "peace with justice" in the world.

Gronchi hailed the American President's "great political sagacity" and his humanity in undertaking his historic mission.

And Rome's Mayor Urbano Ciochetti assured Eisenhower that the Italian capital "looks at you with profound sympathy and will follow with very warm hopes the delicate and generous mission that you have undertaken, following the impulse of your spirit."

The big jet airliner that flew the President across the Atlantic overnight from Washington cleared the airport for 26 minutes before it came in for a landing. Airport sources later revealed it made a ground-controlled landing, because of the weather and also because the plane's electronic landing equipment was not functioning properly.

While Italian government officials watched anxiously, the big jet swung down to a perfect landing, sending up a cloud of spray from puddles on the field.

President's Stand Is Under Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's stand against use of public funds for promotion of birth control abroad is under fire on the ground that it was a concession to the Roman Catholic Church.

Officials of two planned parenthood groups and a predominantly Protestant organization assailed the President in statements Thursday.

The criticism was voiced here by Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, chairman of the medical committee of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America; and Mrs. Robert M. Ferguson, U. S. vice president of the International Planned Parenthood Federation.

Another attack was made in Washington, D. C., by Glenn L. Archer, executive director of the National Council on the Status of Women, and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

The President stepped into a debate over possible use of U. S. foreign aid funds on birth control programs in other countries at his news conference Wednesday.

"I cannot imagine anything more emphatically a subject that is not a proper political or government activity or function or of arts degree at Wooster in 1926 and an honorary doctor of divinity degree there in 1953.

He came to Ozarks in 1953 from West Palm Beach, Fla., where he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The board of missions of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. is taking over operation of Ozarks Jan. 1. A spokesman said yesterday the board's department of educational and medical work will take over the president's work until a new college head can be found.

Drummond is a former president of the Arkansas Foundation of Associated Colleges. He was instrumental in promoting interest in the state's private colleges.
